

POULTRY PRIZES

AWARDED SATURDAY

The prizes for the best poultry offered by Chas. D. Taylor, the Liberal Creamery, Liberal Produce Company and the Liberal Democrat, were awarded Saturday.

T. W. Hubbard, and Warren Farmer acted as judges.

A. B. Dobbs of Lorena won first prize on Rhode Island Red cockerel, receiving the 5-year subscription to the Democrat and a $5 prize from Taylor's drug store.

Mrs. F. R. King of Tyrone won first on Black Langshans, $5 offered by the Taylor drug store.

A. J. Lancaster of Liberal won first on Buff Rocks, receiving $5 by Taylor's drug store.

W. R. Wightman took first on Rhode Island Reds winning the $5 prize offered by the Liberal Produce Company.

A. King of Tyrone was second on Black Langshans winning the $2 by the Liberal Creamery.

Gertrude Shaeffer took first on Buff Orpingtons receiving a $2 prize offered by the Liberal Creamery.

Quite a nice bunch of poultry was exhibited but hardly as much as the prizes deserved. However all were satisfied and much interest in the poultry industry has increased accordingly.

It is hoped that we can pull off a real poultry show here next spring and put this section on the poultry map on the United States.

GERTRUDE CARPENTER JONES

Gertrude Jones, aged 28 years wife of LeRoy Jones, died at a local hospital Monday morning at 7:30, after a few days illness following the birth of a baby daughter, on June 20th.

She leaves to mourn her loss, a husband and baby, aged mother and father, besides a host of friends.

The funeral services were held at the Methodist Tabernacle, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Rev. Copprish of Syracuse, Kansas, being in charge of the services.

Interment was made in the Liberal cemetery.

Words cannot express the sympathy extended to the loved ones by the untimely death of their beloved wife and daughter. A profusion of flowers expressed in a way, the feeling of old-time friends and acquaintances.

Mrs. Jones was at one time register of deeds of Seward county, and her charming manner won for her a host of acquaintances, and during her term of office she made many close friends.

An obituary will be published next week.
